

MICHAEL MANN TOUR CANCELLED DUE TO COVID-19.

Due to the impacts of COVID-19 on public health and global travel, Think Inc. will cancel their tour: The Climate Crisis: Agency, Urgency, Impact with Michael Mann.

Today Think Inc. is announcing the cancellation of their live, on-stage tour The Climate Crisis: Agency, Urgency, Impact with Michael Mann.

In an effort to contain the spread of COVID-19 and its impact on communities, both Australia and New Zealand have rightfully erred on the side of caution, banning large indoor gatherings and placing restrictions on interstate and international travel.

While this has helped curb the infection and death rates attributed to the pandemic, it has significantly impacted the touring industry, forcing Think Inc. to reconsider the viability of its February 2021 tour with Michael Mann.

With experts speculating that things will “return to normal” only towards the third quarter of 2021 the tour’s cancellation was determined to be the best option in a trying time.

“Cancelling the tour was not an easy choice to make. It doesn’t just impact us, but also the wonderful organisations we work with and the people who were excited to see Michael [Mann] in person,” says Suzi Jamil, owner and director of Think Inc.

“Given how important the conversation around environmentalism is, this tour is vital, and Michael’s voice needs to be amplified. We hope to reschedule it as quickly as possible once borders open up and it’s safe for people to gather en masse.”

Those who’ve already purchased a ticket for the tour will receive a full refund or a credit note (if requested). Think Inc.’s previously scheduled events and tours are not impacted by this decision and will be running as planned.
